Works Stream

Interface®

Works Stream. Intelligence flows.

When you see bright minds working at their peak, thoughts seem to flow easily. Freed by the sparks of inspiration, greater forces appear to be at work. By inspiring free movement in a space, people will think and feel more connected. Everything flows smoothly when real collaboration is encouraged. Creating directions through flowing patterns, Works Stream from Works Series, is the smarter way to create quiet, comfortable spaces where the smartest thinking and work-streams can come together.

The new Works Series has one vision, to work smarter together for every space. Every detail of Works Series works smarter to give greater versatility and drive value at the same time.

Combined with your ideas, each floor can create +Positive spaces™ which help their users thrive by letting them live, work, learn and regain inspiration every day. Each Works Series tile will prove to be the smart move for our planet's future too. As with every Interface product, they are Carbon Neutral, so they help you lower your carbon footprint with one positive step.
